A nightclub has had its licence revoked as a result of a council sub-committee meeting after police concerns about public safety.

Lost nightclub in St Peter’s Square was the subject of a hearing on Friday.

A Northampton Borough Council spokesman said: “During the hearing police raised concerns about a number of serious incidents at the club and the way the premises was managed, which gave the sub-committee reason to believe it had breached the conditions of its licence in relation to public safety and the prevention of crime and disorder.”

Editor’s Letter

Sometimes you have just got to celebrate your luck

I recently went to France for a holiday and to visit my real dad (as opposed to my step dad who has been the dad I grew up with). My real dad now has terminal cancer that was mistaken for indigestion at the stage when it could have been caught in time. We’ve had about 15 years demystifying ourselves to each other at a gentle pace since the day my brother and I tracked him down. We found him by using old telephone directories to ring people in the right areas with the right surname and we got lucky. Not long after our reunion he left his second wife, retired from his job as a psychiatric nursing manager and went to live in France.

He ran marathons and lived a healthy life so the heart bypass operation he underwent last year was a shock. And once someone has been through something like that you feel that they have had their fair share of trauma. It somehow made the cancer doubly shocking.

“If this was a soap the writers would never allow so much to happen to one character.”

If this was a soap opera the writers would never allow one character to have so much happen to them in such a short space of time.

I wasn’t expecting him to have the energy to see all of us but he had never met his grand-daughter Bonnie and had only seen Billy as a baby. He pulled out all the stops. We chatted about a lot of stuff. The French health service is very good but he thinks we don’t know how lucky we are to have the NHS in Britain. We nitpick at it and debate it and wonder whether to get rid of it but we never celebrate our luck for having it.

Incredibly he mustered the energy for a day with us and his grandchildren at an amazing French theme park called Puy du Fou. We had to head back to England the next day and said goodbye amid fake medieval castles and musical fountain gardens. It didn’t solve all life’s problems, but it felt good to have celebrated our luck.

A dentist from Northamptonshire who appeared in last night’s episode of the Great British Bake-Off has described her experience as ‘amazing’.

Deborah Manger, 51, was one of 13 contestants who appeared in the opening episode for the fourth series last night. The show saw them faced with 3 different cake challenges before one of them was eliminated.

Deborah, who has been an avid baker from a young age, applied for the show after being inspired to seize more of life’s opportunities.

The mother of one ran into a few difficulties, coming in ninth place during the technical challenge. She said: “It’s difficult cooking in a new environment, especially with a camera in your face. It takes time to get used to the new equipment and to work out the kinks; it adds to the stress.”

The show, which hit TV screens in 2010, sees contestants baking different goods in front of judges famed food-writer Mary Berry and celebrity chef Paul Hollywood.

Deborah described the atmosphere on set as ‘relaxed’ and praised the crew on their ability to keep contestants calm.

She said: “They were so amazing. At times you forgot that you were working in front of a camera.” And despite not being the Star Baker for the week, she remains positive. She said: “The judging was entirely fair. We were all given the same conditions to work under. I was anxious but I had a great time.”
Everything is on track for £20m station

Work on the £20m Northampton Train Station started on Monday.

LAWRENCE JOHN spoke to the main men behind the project

Construction of the new and improved Northampton Railway Station has started.

Located in the Northampton Enterprise Zone, the £20m development will support continued economic growth in the town.

At twice the size of the present station, the 2,500 sqm building will offer more capacity and improved facilities, including bigger and better shops, cafés and waiting areas.

Over coming weeks, foundation piles are being driven into the ground, marking the start of construction.

John Markham, Chairman of West Northamptonshire Development Corporation said: “After years of planning, design and securing resources, seeing work start on the station is a special moment for the town. The scheme is at the forefront of Northampton’s regeneration.”

Northampton South MP Brian Binley added: “What a great day this is for Northampton with work starting on the building of our new station which will be open and ready in under two years.

“This is sending out a message to businesses from London, from other parts of the country and indeed globally such they wish to relocate to this town.

“If they come here they will see a station which will see Northampton is a town which is alive and on the move.”

Cllr Jim Harker, Leader of Northamptonshire County Council, said the redevelopment of railway station is a key element in the regeneration of Northampton and in bringing prosperity to the county as a whole.

He said: “The county council is pleased to be playing a major part in the project, working with partners to bring it forward today. Northampton Railway Station is the principal gateway to Northampton and it is right that we should all work together to give it the importance and status that it needs to attract more inward investment and create a prosperous economy.”

Leader of Northampton Borough Council, Cllr David Mackintosh, said: “At last we will have a railway station worthy of a town the size and importance of Northampton.

As a key gateway to the Enterprise Zone, this will be a facility we can be proud of and will present a fitting welcome for visitors to our town. This announcement is one of the most significant signals yet that Northampton is Alive and open for business.”

Crackdown to hit rogue landlords

BY LAWRENCE JOHN

Government has announced fines for landlords who charge illegal fees and mark-ups.

A senior councillor has hit out at rogue landlords describing them as a ‘cancer which needs to be cut out’ from the town.

Speaking to the Herald & Post, councillor Mary Markham, the cabinet member for housing, outlined a hard line approach to be taken by Northampton Borough Council.

The local authority has appointed an experienced officer as the head of the private rented sector at the borough council. This lead officer has come from Oxford where he set up legislation for multiple occupancy and the council hopes he can do the same for Northampton.

The town is suffering from cases where landlords are exploiting vulnerable tenants in overcrowded and unsuitable properties.

Cllr Markham said: “It (rogue landlords) is like a cancer and it needs to be cut out.

“This issue has expanded at a rate which the authority had not legislated for and now we are trying to get on top of it. We have launched a consultation exercise where we will be asking people what problems the community has and how people’s lives are affected by these house of multiple occupancy.

“For landlords this is just a money making exercise and the neighbours have to suffer by going through the pain barrier.

“There are properties which are three stories with five people living in them.

“Multiple occupancy is taking homes away from families.”

Northamptonshire ambulance held their first Rescue Ride Out on Sunday.

The lifesaving charity invited motorcyclists from across the country to join them for a mass ride in to one of the most famous motorcycling events of the year; the Brackley Festival of Motorcycling and they were truly overwhelmed by the attendance and support for year one of this event.

Over 500 supporters arrived early on Sunday morning in their lids and leathers at Triumph HQ in Hinckley, Pure Triumph in Wellingborough, Ace Café in London and Jacks Hill Café near Towcester. The event sponsors, Bridgestone and Triumph, both pulled out all the stops to make this an extra special event.

Supporter Tracey Dawkins said: "What an experience, a day I won't forget! Down the straight of the dual carriage way on the A43 we couldn’t see where the bikes started in front of us or where the bikes ended behind. It was wonderful to see we had supporters up on the bridges and going into Brackley all waving at us."

Special Projects Manager, Daniel Routt said "We’re over the moon about how the event unfolded. Our supporters were brilliant on the day and the feedback has been excellent. The event has raised £10,000 to date with 6 weeks left for riders to fundraise and send in their sponsorship. The incentives provided by the sponsors for the highest fundraiser include a signed Ron Haslam helmet, a Triumph Factory tour, and a one off Bridgestone experience, which will no doubt encourage supporters to raise vital funds and keep us flying."

"It was vital we worked with the traffic police, fire, highways and bike safety groups who all helped the Charity set up a very special event which we hope will stay in the motorcycling calendar for many years to come. To witness it all come to fruition on the day was very rewarding for everyone involved."

Former transplant patient wins gold medal

A gold medal winner at the British Transplant Games in Sheffield called the weekend ‘fantastic’ but ‘emotional’.

Natasha Rogers, 38, of Leafields, Wakes Meadow, successfully had a heart and lungs transplant 12 years ago and decided to take part in the games as a celebration of her life.

She said: “It was fantastic and emotional for me and my family.”

“I saw children from 2 years up to adults of 80 taking part.”

Natasha, who was told pre-operation that she only had a few weeks to live, won the cricket ball throwing event, took part in ten pin bowling and completed a 3k run with her dad.

She added: “I’m not sure what I will enter next year, it will all depend on what the schedule of events are. I thoroughly enjoyed the experience and can’t wait to go again next year.”

“IT was great to have the opportunity to take part in honour of my donor’s memory.”

Licensing committee ‘appalled’ by CCTV

Northampton Borough Council Licensing Sub-Committee has said they were ‘appalled’ by CCTV footage of a nightclub before revoking its licence.

Lost in St Peter’s Square now faces closure since having its licence revoked at the meeting on Friday after it was found to have breached a number of its conditions.

Police confirmed they had launched an investigation after concerns about the number of assaults at the premises which has had a licence since November 24, 2005.

During the meeting it was stated that on June 25 PC Bryan reported that he ‘received an email expressing concern regarding the general state of Lost and CCTV from the premises.’

When requested did not cover the entrance to the premises.’

Police were also concerned about images on social media of customers drinking from bottles despite an agreed condition not to have bottles at the site.

In a final statement the committee said: “The incidents which were in the control of the Premises Licence Holder and his staff left the Sub-Committee very disappointed.

“The Sub-Committee were appalled at what had taken place at these premises.

“All of these things gave the Sub-Committee reason to believe that the licensing objectives, in particular the Prevention of Crime and Disorder and Public Safety had not been upheld, and the Sub-Committee did not have confidence they would be upheld in the future if kept under the same management.

“The Sub-Committee were also concerned that neither the ex DPS, Johnny Simpson who was now the named manager, nor the DPS Mr Randle, could answer questions on the basic principles of the Licensing laws.”

“T hey concluded: “The Sub Committee had a duty to ensure that members of the public were kept in a safe environment.

“T he most appropriate action was to revoke the premises licence.”

Nightclub owners have chosen to appeal against the decision to the magistrates court.

Royal & Derngate: When the Dragon Swallowed the Sun

Next week, fans of the Tibetan movement will get the chance to watch When the Dragon Swallowed the Sun.

The documentary film, directed by Dirk Simon, has been seven years in the making, it centres around Tibet’s struggle to free the country from China’s occupation and features Richard Gere, Archbishop Desmond Tutu and The Dalai Lama.

Northampton is a known supporter for the Tibetan people, even raising a flag at the Guildhall earlier this year in memory of those who died in the uprising 54 years ago.

The film is a must-see and will be shown at the Errol Flynn Filmhouse.

Free parking for fans on sports match clash days

Royal & Derngate and The County Council have announced that free parking will be offered for fans attending the matches at Northampton Town FC and the Saints.

An offer of free parking match days when both Northampton Town FC and the Saints are playing at the same time has been announced by the borough council today.

The decision comes after residents became concerned about the increase in cars due to fans of both teams attending games.

The council has been meeting with both clubs and the county council to discuss match day parking and traffic issues when events are taking place on the same day.

Last season the Cobblers and Saints had successful runs and gained new fans as they put the town on the sporting map.

Claret Car Park on Edgar Mobbs Way will be open on selected match days for fans.

New bridge to cross Northampton train station

A Labour councillor is calling for the Tories 'two green sack policy' put in the bin before it starts.

Cllr Gareth Eales who represents the Spencer ward on Northampton Borough Council said he has already been contacted by residents who have expressed their concern since hearing about the new collection scheme.

Last week, the borough council announced from September 16, refuse will be collected in new green sacks.

Every household will be limited to a maximum of two green sacks per household each week and no other type of sack will be collected by the crews.

A six-month supply of green sacks with the council and partnership logos will be delivered to households during the week of September 2, together with a leaflet explaining what they need to know and where they can find information about how to reduce their waste and recycle more.

Households needing extra recycling boxes can contact the council.

Cllr Eales said: “I have had a number of residents contact me to express their strong disapproval since this story broke.

“I have been contacted not just by residents in Spencer but also in Kings Heath and St James which I represent on the county council.

“The first is that residents don’t want it and two it is likely to be unworkable.

“Two green sacks per household is for many just not enough and I fear that we may see an increase in fly tipping and a host of other environmental problems due to this.

“What about those living in flats or houses with multiple occupancy?

“Tories know who has put more than two green sacks out for the week when rubbish is put into communal areas?

“I understand the need to reduce the amount of rubbish going to landfill, but it needs to be a policy and an approach that works. I fear isn’t it.

“Eales wants this policy too be dropped as he felt it is already proving to be deeply unpopular even before it has been launched.

No to MP salary raise

SIR - At our monthly branch meeting last night our members unanimously passed the following motion: “This branch strongly condemns any pay increase for members of Parliament at a time of austerity when many ordinary people are facing a pay freeze or cut!”

I challenge Michael Ellis and Sally Keeble to state that they also oppose this increase and that, if passed, they would not accept it.

Members also expressed concern, even outrage, at the excessive salaries paid to many big charity bosses, in particular, Sir Nicholas Young of the British Red Cross who on £184,000 a year earns over £40,000 more than the Prime Minister.

These amounts are an insult to the utopian and public service of the tens of thousands of volunteers who give their time and efforts for nothing.

Wind farms cost £8

The local wind farms in Northamptonshire and other counties have cost householders about another £8 - 10 on their bills, they are only any good near the coast.

We really need the main power stations of hydro electric power, coal, gas and oil fired and generators from waste material it is important large generation stations for the economy and the future, it is worth looking at generating from water mills.

It would be better to nationalize them so that it would be cheaper for industry and domestic use and a better standard of living for everybody, privatization is alright but not in everything.

Give a child a home

Have you an adoption connection?

If so, you will know what an amazing thing it is to give a child a safe, loving and permanent home.

There is a desperate need for more adopters throughout the UK and you could help inspire others to become a ‘forever family’ for a vulnerable child or sibling group.

The British Association for Adoption and Fostering (BAAF) is looking for more people to volunteer as Adoption Champions to help spread the word about adoption.

Even if you do not have a direct connection, but simply care about creating a better future for the most vulnerable of our children, you are very welcome to sign up as an Adoption Champion too.

Our adopted daughter is the most precious thing in our lives, so I have become a Champion to help encourage others to think about adoption – to show that adoption not only changes a child’s life in the best way possible, but also that it brings so much joy and reward to adoptive parents.

There are lots of different ways to get involved and the BAAF team are there to give you advice and support.

Post office of 50 years could close

BY ANNABEL HOWARD
annabel.howard@hpnorthants.co.uk

A community post office will be temporarily closing next month due to the sub-postmistress retiring.

Semilong residents fear this could be a permanent change if potential owners do not come forward.

County cllr for St George Sarah Uldall, of St George's Avenue, Semilong, has issued a newsletter to residents who may be affected by a closure.

She said: “We are looking to launch an appeal to find a new sub-postmaster. “If they do not find one soon then it will close.”

Semilong mum-of-four Hilary Scott, 44, of Hester Street, said: “It’s an incrediably nice and important resource for the community. It’s always busy, it would be a terrible shame to lose.

I’m lucky I have a car, but as a mum chances are it would mean having to drag my kids on a road trip to get to the nearest post office - instead of just being able to walk down the road!”

A Post Office spokesperson said: “Due to the retirement of the sub-postmaster and the withdrawal of the premises for Post Office use, Semilong Post Office will be closing temporarily on September 25.

“We are investigating all the options to enable us to reinstate a Post Office service to the local community.

“The future service will need to reflect customer numbers to make it sustainable for operator and for Post Office Limited, so we may take the opportunity to establish an alternative type of service.

“This may be an outreach service where a subpostmaster from a nearby branch offers the facility, or a new style branch known as a Post Office local.

“Post Office locals run alongside an established local shop and create a more modern and convenient retail experience for customers in newly refurbished premises.”

Praise after Peaks effort

BY STEVE SCOLES
steve.scoles@hpnorthants.co.uk

A charity chief has praised the efforts of a team who almost completed the Three Peaks Challenge with visually impaired members taking part.

Ferocious weather conditions on Snowdon forced the Sight and Sound team to turn back.

But Michael Kenny, Director of Blind at Business, which the team was raising funds for, said: “We all think it fantastic that the team climbed even one of the mountains, in howling winds and rain and misery and are very grateful for the support and contributions this expedition has raised for the charity.”

Northampton man Matthew Pateman, of the Sight and Sound Technology, revealed the decision to head home on Facebook over the weekend.

He said: “I am massively proud of our Three Peaks Team for taking on this challenge, but am gutted to announce that Snowdon was a mountain too far. We battled though 70mph winds, hail, freezing fog, constant heavy rain and darkness but on safety grounds could not go any further.

“Bringing three visually impaired people down in the dark at Nevis was challenging enough, but facing Snowdon for a dark, rain and hail filled ascent and descent was just too much - the climbers safety has to come first.

“All the climbers have agreed that we will attempt Snowdon again soon together hopefully with better weather.

“I would like to thank all who sponsored us - your money is going to a great cause.”

Glenn Tookey, CEO of Sight and Sound Technology added “It was an incredible achievement for the entire team including the support drivers who clocked up over 1,000 miles in 18 hours and kept us all fed and watered!

“The object was to raise money for a good cause and awareness of the sterling work that Blind in Business do in helping visually impaired into employment.”

Victory parade date for Steelbacks

A victory tour for the Steelbacks who have been crowned the Friends Life 120 Champions will take place on Friday, September 27.

The open top bus parade will be through the streets of Northampton followed by a civic reception at the Guildhall for the players and staff at Northants Cricket.

Due to personal commitments of a number of the players the original proposal to hold the celebrations on Saturday, September 28, had to be changed.

The event will be a chance for supporters to join the Steelbacks at the end of a fantastic season.

Councillor David Mackintosh, Leader of Northampton Borough Council said: “I am sure everyone will understand the end of the season is the perfect time for us to honour the players.”

Full details will be announced nearer the date including how supporters at Franklin’s Gardens will be able to see the triumphant Steelbacks as The Saints are also playing at home that evening.

CLIMB EVERY MOUNTAIN: The Sight and Sound team
Teenage dream or Personal experiences have helped create our past and will shape our future. The individual incidents during our formative years and in some cases have a marked impression on what we do as adults. This is the path which is being forged out for teenage author Bronte Huskinson. The 16-year-old novelist hopes the have her first book published in 2014. Her story is born out of her own personal experience and probably the shared experience of many teenage girls not just in this country but around the world. Bronte’s story concerns the dilemmas many young people have surrounding body image. Bronte has felt the pressure to look perfect, many youths experience and she is using this as the basis for her novel. She said: “This book is about body image. “Body image is something which young girls are looking at all the time. “They see models and wish they looked like them. “This type of issue happens to girls aged between 12 - 14 years-old. “I was very similar to what they went through and are going through. “I wanted to look like a certain person, I started using make-up and wanted to be thin, “I wanted to get ‘the look’ and I felt I could achieve this then I would fit in. “It was a problem of chasing something I could not reach and probably never would. “The inspiration for this book came from what I had gone through. “It was definitely through all the experiences I had. “It depends on which chapter I am writing as some tend to flow easier and faster.

“I was only when I became 15-years-old that I started to grow into a different person. “I hope to be an inspiration to everyone who’s been told they weren’t good enough. “By entering the competition I was able to feel comfortable about my own body. “I do not feel like I used to but I am more comfortable with whom I am.” One of Bronte’s breakthroughs came when she entered the competition.

10 Years of Compass Tours by Rail
Literary ambition: 16-year-old Bronte Huskinson from Northampton hopes to have her first novel published next year and is gathering the courage to try.

Bronte who is studying her A Levels at Northampton School for Girls is juggling her school work with her aim to be a writer. She explained she had been writing bits and pieces since she was eight years old but had done nothing with any of them. Then when she had the spark to write the book she decided to take the plunge and see if what she was doing was any good.

She said: “When I had written a few chapters I sent them off to some publishers to see what they thought. I got some very positive feedback. “There is still a lot of work to do but I hope the book will be written by Christmas. Once it has been finished and proof read it could be out in the spring next year.”

A flight of 11 hot air balloons rounded off Northampton Balloon Festival with a flourish when they took off from Billing Aquadrome.

It was feared the event might end on a low note after weather conditions prevented flying on Sunday morning. However the evening take-off was greenlighted when favourable wind conditions developed and the pilot briefing went ahead at 6pm.

ALL MAJOR CREDIT & DEBIT CARDS ACCEPTED
Lee Childs, a graphic designer of Thomas Chapman Grove, Northampton, was sentenced to five months imprisonment at Harrow Crown Court on Friday for harassment towards his ex-partner and for being in possession of a 14" bladed machete. He was also handed a five year restraining order.

Childs was arrested in December after officers from Harrow CID and Northamptonshire Police jointly executed search warrants at his business premises in Northampton and his home address after receiving allegations of harassment from his ex-partner.

During the searches, officers seized computer equipment containing valuable evidence from his business premises and a 14" bladed machete was also found hidden in his car. Childs was subsequently charged with the offences in April.

The victim, a professional business woman, contacted police in Harrow after discovering that malicious business cards had been printed in her name showing her home address, phone number and photograph, advertising adult massage services and late night visits to her home address.

These cards were posted through neighbour’s doors and placed in phone boxes near her home. This was particularly worrying for the victim as she was receiving unnerving calls of an adult nature and visits to her home, day and night from unknown men.

These cards were also sent to the headmistress of the school her children attended with an accompanying letter saying that they had been found attached to trees near the school. Childs was convicted of producing and distributing these offensive cards.

Childs also set up fake profiles on social networking sites using fictitious names in an attempt to contact her and also to contacting the Inland Revenue to report concerns regarding her company’s tax payments.
Launch of cycle scheme

Britain’s biggest cycle retailer Halfords welcomed today’s Government initiative on cycling.

Halfords CEO Matt Davies said: “Government support is vital to provide the infrastructure cyclists need and this initiative is an important step forward.

“We know firsthand how interest in cycling is growing rapidly and there is a clear demand for better cycling routes.

“Everyone should have the opportunity to cycle safely whether they are commuting to work, getting fit or enjoying a leisurely ride out.”

Halfords has been working with Olympic stars like Victoria Pendleton and Chris Boardman to develop new cycle ranges.

Matt added: “A new generation of cyclists has been inspired by the likes of Victoria Pendleton and her Olympic colleague and we welcome this new Government investment which will encourage more people get on their bikes.”

Olympic athlete Victoria Pendleton said: “I greatly welcome this initiative and I’m delighted that the Government is seeing cycling as a real alternative way of transport.”

Victoria has become a passionate advocate for cycling since retiring from competitive sport.

She has launched her own range of traditionally designed Pendleton bikes with Halfords which have become the best-selling ever women’s range in Halfords 120 year history.

Halfords recently reported a 15.6 per cent increase in bike sales with brands endorsed by Victoria Pendleton and former Olympic hero Chris Boardman doing particularly well.

BID zone expanding if traders vote yes

Every business in Wellingborough Road in Northampton is being invited to a forum to discuss the benefits of setting up a Business Improvement District.

Business owners will be able to find out how establishing a BID could work to attract more visitors and improve the Wellingborough Road area.

The forum will be introduced by Cllr Jonathan Nunn, Northampton Borough Council’s assistant cabinet member for regeneration, enterprise and planning and will include speakers, Sue Roberts, chair of the Northampton Town Centre BID, Sara Homer, chair of the Brackmills BID and Ian Ferguson, director of Partnerships for Better Business (UK).

Northampton currently has two successful Business Improvement Districts, at Brackmills and the town centre, which have both been running for a number of years.

Both BIDs have the power to manage their own trading environment, funded by a small levy on their business rates that creates a pot of money that can be used to deliver extra services.

Business Improvement Districts aim to encourage businesses to work with the council improving their surrounding areas, not only for their businesses but for customers and visitors.

Northampton town centre BID has already carried out initiatives such as, introducing town centre ranges, promoting and sponsoring many town centre events such as Northampton by the Sea, Go Safari and the Riverside Festival and participating in the successful Britain in Bloom awards.

Cllr David Mackintosh, leader of Northampton Borough Council, said: “We are always committed to supporting local businesses and the Northampton Town Centre BID is a great example of how it has helped improve the vitality of the town.

“Businesses that are involved in the Town Centre BID have received on-going support and the chance to be involved in the decision making process, regarding improvements that our town needs.”

Sue Roberts, chair of the Northampton Town Centre BID, said: “The Northampton town centre BID has been proactive at supporting and promoting local businesses, I think having a BID for Wellingborough Road could be of great benefit, not just to businesses there but to the town as whole.”

The event will take place on Wednesday, September 11, at 6pm in the Holding Room, at the Guildhall.

Commentators and lawyers alike describe the current UK legal laws as antiquated, costly, unfair and stifling freedom of expression and legitimate protest.

Long awaited reform is almost here – with the passed Defamation Act 2013 expected to come into force later this year.

Commentators and lawyers alike describe the current UK legal laws as antiquated, costly, unfair and stifling freedom of expression and legitimate protest.

Long awaited reform is almost here – with the passed Defamation Act 2013 expected to come into force later this year.

So what will the main changes be?

• All claims must prove serious harm to reputation in order to bring a claim. Trivial claims should not clog the Courts in future.

• Corporate claimants must also show serious financial loss (immediate or anticipated loss). This will allow greater freedom of expression by preventing large corporations from using the threat of libel action to silence critics.

• Defences of ‘truth’, honest opinion and public interest are simplified in statutory form. This will replace the previous common law defences of justification, fair or honest comment.

• Operators of websites hosting online posts will have a defence if they are not the author and it is possible for the claimant to identify the author. New regulations will be introduced to create a procedure for complaints as to online posts and what a website operator must do in response. This will hopefully simplify the process needed to identify a post or finding behind anonymity.

• Greater protection for peer-reviewed scientific and academic journals.

• A single publication rule so online material is deemed published, once originally posted and that will be the relevant date for limitation purposes (one year limitation period running from that date).

• A limit to the English Court’s jurisdiction if a claimant is not domiciled in England and Wales. This is intended to bring an end to the perception of libel tourism but will still allow a foreign domiciled claimant to use libel in England.

• There will no longer be a presumption of jury trial.

• The Court will have statutory power to compel a defendant to publish a judgment summarily and thus prevent statements from websites or from distribution. As most cases settle this will not have enormous practical effect but the requirement to publish a judgment will create a power of the wording, manner and place of publication will be determined by the Court where not agreed between the parties.

All of these changes are necessary, valuable and largely inevitable. Northern Ireland is not planning to adopt the new legislation? Won’t publishers and media companies be reluctant to set up business in Northern Ireland as a consequence? There will also be a difficulty in sanitising content for Northern Ireland.

In the UK, these changes should lead to a reduction in complexity and cost. This is good news.

OVER 35 YEARS EXPERIENCE TO RELY ON PRIDE OF NORTHANTS

David Willey is all smiles after his stunning man of the match display won the Friends Life T20 trophy for Northamptonshire Steelbacks at Edgbaston on Saturday night.

Willey, 23, smashed the fastest half century of the tournament with the bat and then bagged himself a hat-trick with the ball to inspire the Steelbacks to a crushing 102-run victory over Surrey in the final, having already seen off Essex Eagles in the semi-final earlier in the day. It also ended the county’s 21-year wait for a major piece of silverware.

BY CARL FIELD

The day of Victorious Northamptonshire Steelbacks skipper Alex Wakely hailed the Friends Life T20 triumph as the highlight of his career so far.

Wakely led the side to a crushing 102-run victory as they stunned Surrey in Saturday’s final at Edgbaston to secure the county’s first major silverware since 1992.

The win also capped a remarkable turnaround in limited overs cricket for Northants, who had struggled badly having won just three of their previous 22 T20 matches before the start of the campaign.

Wakely said: “We were at rock bottom last year and there were times when we didn’t know where to go. We almost started from scratch and had a heart to heart at the end of last year and a lot of people were disappointed with the way we were playing our cricket.

“If you’d have told me at the start of the season we’d be winning finals day, I wouldn’t have believed you to be honest.

“We were looking to improve our one day cricket, but to get to finals day and actually win something as a club is an unbelievable feeling.

“It’s the best day I’ve ever had playing cricket and will live with me for a long time, no matter what happens in the future.”

Wakely’s individual performance with the bat also went away to securing the crown. He hit an unbeaten 59 from 30 balls and put on an unbeaten stand of 107 in just 57 deliveries with Cameron White to guide Northants to 194-2 before they bowled Surrey out for 92 – with David Willey bagging a hat-trick.

On their performance in the final, he said: “I can’t stress how much it’s been a team thing.

“Obviously we’ve had the individual performances and the guys have done some outstanding things in Welcome. . .

I’m a tall fella. Why am I telling you that? Because when I look for somewhere to live I take that into account. We are all looking for somewhere different. It’s not always as simple as finding a place with the right number of bedrooms or the right price. Sure these things are important but the agents we work with at the Herald & Post understand there is more to finding that little bit of magic that makes a place your home. These guys have a wealth of knowledge and it’s not just in the housing market.

In the pages of this supplement you’ll find expertise in the rental and commercial property sectors too. Back in my hometown of Cork they say: “You don’t know what you don’t know” and working with these agents has been an education. I’m proud to be introducing them to you,

Warm regards,
Alan Doyle

Two bedroom bungalow in a desirable village
“despite not been a great lover of estate agents millers were a pleasure to work with and would definitely use them in the future”

Semi detached bungalow in residential area of Abington Vale, Northampton
“I was recommended to use Millers by Mum’s next door neighbour.
Mr Kondracki of Millers was very professional in his approach and that is why I chose him when he came round to Mum’s house. Mum would have liked him.
The other agent I did not use was “a bit of a wide boy”.
Mr Kondracki and his colleagues were very helpful, polite and always returned my telephone calls. I would use them again.
Many thanks”.

Detached property in West Hunsbury, Northampton
“As far as we are concerned Millers dealt with the sale of the property in a most professional way”.

RICK STEIN’S INDIA
In search of the perfect curry...?
Well look no further than this amazing new BBC cookbook that accompanies Rick Stein’s new 6-part TV series, Rick Stein’s Indian Odyssey.

I don’t know about you, but whenever I hear the word curry, I’m filled with a longing for spicy hot food, crisp poppadums and an ice cold cobra beer.

We have teamed up with our friends at the Ebury Publishing to bring you two mouth-watering recipes from this beautiful cookbook - Dry Curry of Cabbage, carrot and coconut and a Madras Curry of Snapper and tomato - enjoy!

MADRAS FISH CURRY OF SNAPPER, TOMATO AND TAMARIND
SERVES 4 – 6

I have written at some length in the main introduction about finding this curry, which I have nominated as my favourite. I’ve always liked snapper and particularly in the UK I recommend using any of the following monkfish, because you get firm slices of white, meaty fish-density, which is a plainer flavourer. It’s a good idea to add some fresh curry leaves, possibly a large fish, because although you’ll get a richer flavour, it has plenty of flavour, or garlicky. I think more than anything else that this dish typifies what I was saying about really fresh fish not being ruined by a spicy curry. I can still remember the slightly oily flavour of the exquisite snapper in that dish because fish oil, when it’s perfectly fresh, is very nice to eat. I always think oily fish goes well with curry anyway, particularly with the flavours of tomatoes, tamarind and curry leaves.

INGREDIENTS
60ml vegetable oil
1 tbsp yellow mustard seeds
1 large onion, finely chopped
15g/3 cloves garlic, finely crushed
30 fresh curry leaves
2 tsp Kashmiri chilli powder
2 tsp ground coriander
2 tsp turmeric
400g can chopped tomatoes
100ml Tamarind liquid
2 green chillies, each sliced lengthways into 6 pieces, with seeds
1 tsp salt
700g snapper fillets, cut into 5cm chunks

To serve
Boiled basmati rice

METHOD
Heat the oil in a heavy-based saucepan or karahi over a medium heat. When hot, add the mustard seeds and fry for 30 seconds, then stir in the onion and garlic and fry gently for about 10 minutes until softened and lightly golden. Add the curry leaves, chilli powder, coriander and turmeric and fry for 2 minutes, then stir in the tomatoes, tamarind liquid, green chillies and salt and simmer for about 10 minutes until thickened and reduced. Add the fish, cook for a further 5 minutes or until just cooked through, and serve with plain rice.

Dry Curry of Cabbage, Carrot and Coconut

Serves 4 – 6

Thoran is a dry vegetable curry from Kerala, made from whatever fresh vegetables are around—like beans, brinjal, jackfruit, saag (leafy vegetables), even green tomatoes. Taking a very common and normally in season vegetable in the UK, like cabbage, I’ve worked on this dish to produce my own version, which means I’ve kept faithful to the essential ingredients of mustard seeds, green chilies, ginger and, above all, grated coconut, but I have made the dish as quick as possible to produce.

Ingredients

- 3 tbsp coconut oil or vegetable oil
- 2 tsp black mustard seeds
- 2 tbsp fresh curry leaves
- 1 tsp cumin seeds
- 2 dried Kashmiri chilies, each broken into 3 or 4 pieces
- 30g/6cm ginger, finely grated into a paste
- ½ tsp turmeric
- 1 tsp salt
- ½ tsp coarsely ground black pepper
- 250g Hepi or pointed spring cabbage (or spring greens), shredded into 5mm pieces
- 2 carrots, peeled
- 2 fresh green chilies, sliced into thin rounds, with seeds
- 100g fresh or frozen coconut flesh, brined in a food processor or grated

To serve
Boiled basmati rice and poppadoms

Method

1. Heat the oil in a heavy-based saucepan or karahi set over a medium heat, and when hot, add the mustard seeds followed by the curry leaves, cumin seeds and dried chilies.
2. Stir for about 30 seconds, then add the ginger paste, turmeric, salt and black pepper and fry for 30 seconds.
3. Stir in the cabbage and carrots and cook covered, over a medium heat for 5–7 minutes or until the vegetables are tender, adding a splash of water if they start to stick to the pan.
4. Stir in the green chilies and coconut, heat through for a minute and serve. Serve with rice and poppadoms.
Tell ‘em about the HONEY!...

For centuries this sweet, soft and sticky delight has been prized for its health benefits... The health benefits of honey have long been realized to treat a variety of ailments. Honey contains powerful antioxidants with antiseptic and antibacterial properties. Though scientific arguments have been made for use of honey in modern times, its use is still a conventional practice under the practice of “alternate medicine”. In modern times, its therapeutic uses have been researched and used in many hospitals.

Honey contains invert sugar that has the quality of providing instant energy when consumed. It is also a heart stimulant and a useful food supplement. It has been known to cure some allergies, particularly localized honey to an area, could help minimize seasonal allergies as bees feed on pollen from local plants which eventually finds its way to form honey.

Its use for centuries is as a treatment for sore throats and coughs, and according to recent research, may in fact be as effective as many common cough medicines, potentially killing harmful bacteria in your mouth and throat, preventing them from spreading through your body.

Did you know that the queen bee lives 40 times longer than her poor little drone – so we really should get stuck in!

individual games. But we’ve been together and worked hard together as a squad - right from the start, everyone’s been at the bottom and now we’re right at the top. It’s a great feeling.”

Wakely also paid tribute to head coach David Ripley who he says has helped breathe new life into Northants since replacing David Capel and instilled a more professional approach.

“David’s been brilliant,” said Wakely. “A lot of us have grown up with him through the Academy years and we know him very well. Because of that, there’s that relationship there straight away where everyone can relate to him. He doesn’t say anything that he doesn’t really mean and he has guided us, basically.

“We have very talented players in the team - both senior and young players - and he’s just pushed us in the right direction. “One of the things that we picked out at the end of last year was our organisation - which was very bad.

“The way we went about our training wasn’t very good, so he’s sorted that out and got us back on track. Everything we’re doing is structured now, he’s got a very good team around him and the club is in a very good state.”

WHAT’S ON ROUND-UP

Storytelling which will get under your skin

BY LAWRENCE JOHN
lawrence.john@hpnorthants.co.uk

The latest in Royal & Derngate’s collaborations with The Crick Crack Club brings Under Her Skin to Northampton.

It’s storyteller Debs Newbold and musician Laurel Swift on the Underground stage for an epic tale with a modern twist. The production brings together two voices, four feet and eight strings.

Uplifting, deftly modern and belly-shakingly funny, Under Her Skin is a tale of three lost souls, one snoggy city and a boatful of delicious rare fish.

Combining dynamic performance storytelling with the effusive energy of traditional dance and music on clogs, double bass, fiddle and voice and playing freely with the conventions of storytelling.

Under Her Skin gives a very old British folk tale a thoroughly contemporary retelling.

Newbold and Swift will transport their audience off into a rich imaginative landscape.

Newbold is a teller of folktales, original stories and Shakespearean epics alike, whose unique voice and has been captivating Sidmouth, sell out at Hay and lead 200 grown adults into mischief at the Royal Festival Hall.

Laurel Swift is a musician, dancer and composer. She plays fiddle with irresistible ceilidh-dance groovers The Gloworms, and double bass with the Gadarene, who blend obscure 18th century tunes with modern beats.

Under Her Skin is performed on Thursday 29 August at 7.30pm. Tickets cost £8.50 and can be booked by calling the Box Office on 01604 624811 or visiting www.royalandderngate.co.uk. The event is recommended for ages 18 and above.

A little ray of sunshine is coming to our town

BY LAWRENCE JOHN
lawrence.john@hpnorthants.co.uk

In the early part of the 20th century, Buffalo Bill Cody and his Wild West Show used to bring cowboys and Indians to people in town’s and cities who would never have seen them.

Fast forward nearly 100 years and Ray Mears who is Great Britain’s authority on bushcraft is bringing the outdoors to the theatre.

He is giving modern audience a taste of how to survive in the woods, the arctic and forests of the world.

Ray is quietly spoken but has a gentle tone of authority to his words when he speaks about nature.

He said: “One of the things I wish children were taught is about trees, plants and the natural world so they know their importance and value.

“When I go into the wilderness I either take a carved spoon with me or carve one when I am there.

“When I am finished I can throw it back into the woods for nature to reclaim.

“People who go into the wild take a lot of things with them and they should learn to do without these items.

“You just need to take a small set of tools to make what you want.

“My parents generation were much better at making do and mend that we are today.

“Now many of what we need is thrown away if it breaks.”

Ray respects nature and all it offers us. He highlighted this by telling me when the Cherokee tribe elders had to make a decision they had to look seven generations ahead when considering the consequences.

An evening with Ray Mears is at the Derngate on October 21.
Tickets can be book on 01604 624811 or at www.royalandderngate.co.uk

FURTHER AFIELD

Monsters University is the heart-warming prequel to the 2001 blockbuster, Monsters, Inc. Created by Disney Pixar, the film takes you on a journey to reveal the initially rocky friendship of Mike (voiced by Billy Crystal) and Sulley (voiced by John Goodman). After a school trip to the Monsters, Inc factory, Mike is inspired to become a scarer and enrolls on the scare programme at Monsters University. It is there that he meets Sulley and the two begin a rivalry. They are both expelled after their competitive-ness gets the better of them and are then forced to prove their worth by competing in the Scare Games, a competition designed to weed out the scariest monsters.

Steve Buschemi also reprises his role as Randall whilst Helen Mirren brings life to the intimidating Dean Hardscrabble. The film incorporates many jokes from its sequel, a nice touch for loyal fans, and will be an enjoyable watch no matter who you are, adding a perfect background to a story much loved by both children and adults.

Peugeot 208 1.0 VTi

Your next car could be on the turn of the page...

Turn the page for featured cars
Inside the new Peugeot 208
Test drive

The Peugeot 208 is so dramatically improved over the 206 and 207 models that it’s almost as if it’s skipped a couple of generations. Any true car lover will love the fact that Peugeot is getting its mojo back again after some lean years and the 208 is a supermini that now makes a convincing case for itself, even in its least expensive three cylinder 1.0-litre VTi petrol guise.

It’s not an immediately obvious candidate for delivering much in the way of fun. The 208 is a big car and an 68bhp engine would appear to be chronically underpowered, but understand this: the 1.0-litre three cylinder engine is so much lighter than, say, the 1.4-litre four you’ll find further up the 208 range that their power to weight ratios are hardly any different. The three cylinder engine takes 95 kilos out of the car’s front end.

Senior Reporter

We’re looking for a senior reporter who can lead by example on the newsdesk of the Northampton and Wellbeingborough Herald newspapers.

You need to be NCE qualified (or able to show you are up to that level) and as comfortable covering court as you are rubbing shoulders with our politicians. But we’re in a very competitive market place and the diary is not going to help you out here. You need to come with your own ideas, be ready to build your own contacts list and be ready to use whatever medium it takes to get the story told. That might be video, audio, web sites, social media and of course, print.

Of course we want a dynamic, self-motivated team player who is creative and hungry to make and break the news but let’s not overcomplicate things: bring me stories.

If you can read the people of Northamptonshire with respect and humility but still make them say wow when they read their news then you might just have what we want. If you can’t drive or don’t have a means of transport you are giving yourself a mountain to climb. If the idea of turning up to your interviews with a few stories you have dug up yourself fills you with horror then maybe it’s better you just don’t turn up.

But if you’re still reading and you fancy a competitive salary, five weeks’ annual holiday and a contributory pension scheme in return for a great job in a leading media company then contact steve.scoler@hphnorthants.co.uk (01604 616406) for an application pack.

Send the completed application pack and 150 words on the best thing you have done in journalism so far to steve.scoler@hphnorthants.co.uk. Applications close on 30 August.

We encourage applicants from all walks of life and all applications will be considered on merit.

As a division of Local World we also publish weekly newspapers and websites across Ferris, Bedd, Budo, Bermas, Netham, Staffs and Essex.

Dons date again for Northampton

Milton Keynes Dons and Northampton Town have been paired with each other in a cup competition again following the draw for the first round of the Johnstone’s Paint Trophy.

The Cobblers will travel to stadiummk for the south-east section clash on Tuesday, September 3, kick-off 7.45pm. Both sides already know each other well this season after they were drawn together in the first round of the Capital One Cup – a match Dons won 2-1 at Sixfields earlier this month.

The trophy game is the latest repeat of last year’s first round JPT game, when Northampton hosted Dons and beat them 1-0.

Soccer AM presenters Max Rushden and Helen Chamberlain completed the draw live on the show on Saturday morning. The two clubs have agreed to reduce prices for the fixture with tickets costing £12 for adults and over-65s, with a £2 discount for season ticket holders if purchased before 4pm on Monday, September 2.

It will cost under-18s £3 to attend the match – and £1 for under-18 season ticket holders if purchased before the same date and time.

Tickets will go on sale from Sixfields from 10am on Thursday. As this match is not all-ticket, Cobblers supporters should note that away/cup match booking forms have not been processed.

Joe Widdowson enjoying his licence to roam forward

Left-back Joe Widdowson says he is enjoying his extra licence to roam forward after being encouraged to attack more by Cobblers boss Aidy Boothroyd.

That advice and dividends almost immediately for Northampton at Southend United last Saturday, as despite the fact they went down 2-0, it was Widdowson’s burst into the box after seven minutes that won Town a penalty.

Striker Roy O’Donovan missed the resultant spot kick and things soon went from bad to worse for the Cobblers as Hackett was sent off for two bookings inside half an hour, before goals from Anthony Straker and Freddy Eastwood signalled defeat for Boothroyd’s side.

However, Widdowson’s stand out display was a positive to take from the defeat and he said getting into offensive positions is something he wants to do more.

“Clive is very much in contention for a starting spot in the midfield, and Chris both came through it well,” said Boothroyd.

Widdowson says being allowed to roam forward is something he enjoys doing, “It’s part of my game. I managed to win a penalty and Roy was unlucky not to put it away.

“I’m a defender, so I’ve got to make sure I’m defending well, first and foremost, in whatever game at any time. But if your defending is good then obviously the attacking is going to be something you can add to it, depending on the game and the situation.”

Defeat at Roots Hall was the Cobblers’ second loss from as many games on the road in League Two so far and Widdowson admits having a man sent off at both York and Southend has cost them dear.

He said: “We’re only three games in but, in the two away games we’ve played, we perhaps haven’t helped ourselves in a sense with the red cards.

“When you’re playing away from home, you want to be strong and resilient and that becomes a lot harder when you go down to 10.

“We need to keep 11 players on the pitch away from home. We got a good result in the home game against Newport, but obviously we’re looking to perform better and hopefully become more consistent with our away form, while maintaining our positive home form from last season.”

Widdowson, now in his second season at Sixfields, has made the left-back spot his own since joining from Rochdale in July 2012 and the ex-West Ham defender says he wants to keep on improving.

“That’s what you play football for, you don’t want to stay at the same level,” he said.

“I do think it’s an important season for me. They are all important seasons, but last season was my first season at Northampton and you’re always looking to build and improve.

“But I also think there are a lot of people in our team who could probably play higher, if given that opportunity.

“So it’s an important season for us all as a collective. We’ve all got ambitions to play higher and that’s the objective for all of us.”

Hackett dismissal could benefit Cobblers

“Clive and Chris both came through strongly and to have two such influential players approaching fitness again is a big boost to us.

“Clive is very much in contention for Saturday and it was good for those two, and some of the lads who have been on the bench in the last few weeks to get some minutes under their belts.”

Aidy Boothroyd says Chris Hackett’s sending-off at Southend United may actually end up being a blessing in disguise for Northampton Town.

The winger was back in the Cobblers’ team at Roots Hall after missing his first game since returning from a torn Achilles tendon, but lasted just 22 minutes as he was dismissed for picking up two yellow cards for reckless challenges.

Hackett will now sit out Saturday’s League Two home clash against Torquay United, but Boothroyd said his enforced extended absence will benefit Town going forward.

He said: “It might actually work out in our favour, because he is a big player for us and we’ll be able to get another two weeks training and a practice match under his belt, by the time we go to Bristol Rovers a week on Saturday.

“We can manage him better and, what we don’t want to do, is lose a player longer term.”

“That’s obviously my dilemma with players coming back from long-term injuries because, while you want to stretch them as far as they’ll go, we don’t want to do anything to break them and make sure they are available for as many games as possible.”

The visit of Torquay to Sixfields on Saturday also sees some familiar faces return - most notably Ben Harding - while Cobblers midfielder Ian Morris will be up against the club he left in the summer.

Boothroyd admits that, although it was a shame to see Harding leave the club in the summer, he has been more than impressed with his new summer acquisition.

“Ben (Harding) did very well for us last year and, in the end, I wanted to keep him but he’s got himself a longer-term deal elsewhere. I wish him well – but obviously it’s on Saturday.

“In Ian Morris’ case, he’s going to turn out to be a really top player for this club. He brings a balance to us that we’ve not had before, in terms of us being able to overload our midfield. That also gives Chris Hackett a little bit more licence to attack and we can get more out of him from an offensive point of view.

“We’ve now also got the added option of playing three in midfield, because Ian can play in there if required. I’ve really pleased with what I’ve seen of him so far.”

Boothroyd also confirmed that striker Roy O’Donovan, who missed a penalty at Southend, will keep spot kick duty for now.

“He’ll score the next one, I’m sure,” said Boothroyd. “They usually go straight in, he’ll get one more chance and then we’ll have a look at someone else.”

Northampton Town duo Clive Platt, pictured, and Chris Hackett both came through a behind closed doors reserve team game at Watford on Tuesday.

Platt played 55 minutes and Hackett 75 as the Cobblers beat a strong Watford second string 2-0 thanks to goals from J J Hooper and Ishmael Dembagnon.

“It was a good work out for us,” said boss Aidy Boothroyd, who was happy with his team’s work.

I'm not ready for England yet says Steelback Willey

David Willey says he isn't quite ready to step up to the full England set-up.

The 23-year-old left-handed all-rounder was the star of the show for Northamptonshire Steelbacks in the Friends Life T20 final at Edgbaston on Saturday, putting in a series of man of the match displays to inspire the side to a crushing 102-run win over Surrey to win the club's first major silverware for 21 years. He smashed 60 from 27 balls, while his first ever half century in t20 cricket – which was achieved in just 19 balls – was the fastest of the tournament. He then stood out with the ball, ending with figures of 4-2, which included a hat-trick to secure the trophy, while a run-out and a catch capped a marvellous display.

Willey made his England Lions bow against Bangladesh A at Bristol on Tuesday, but thinks he still has a way to go to force his way into contention for the full England squad.

"I don't think I'm ready for it yet," he said.

"I think I need to be a bit more consistent and nail my skills more often."

"Ultimately, I'd like to play international cricket and if I keep doing the right things, then maybe the chance will come one day.

"But I just take every game as it comes, try and have more days like Saturday and then maybe I'll get there quicker."

"I just try to perform for the side I'm playing for and if an England call happens then so be it, but I don't think about it too much." But Steelbacks' T20 skipper Alex Wakely thinks it is only a matter of time before Willey forces his way into England's thinking and also praised his performance in Saturday's final, when he was moved up the order to open the batting at short notice, after a wrist injury ruled Kyle Coetzer out of the Surrey showdown.

Wakely said: "It'll surprise me if that guy (Willey) isn't playing for England, especially in white ball cricket, before too long."

"His performance in the final wasn't a shock. We knew that if one of the openers went down, he'd step in anyway, he's done it for us before in 40-over cricket as well. He's shown he can be a quality all-rounder, that was his first 50 in t20 cricket and to score the fastest in the tournament just shows his calibre."

"David has been fantastic for us all season, he has got his Lions call up this week which he thoroughly deserves and, if he keeps performing like he did on Saturday, then who knows where he can get."

Proud Northamptonshire Steelbacks head coach David Ripley says he hopes their Friends Life T20 win will be the springboard to an incredible treble success this season.

Ripley's charges ended the country's 21-year wait for a major trophy at Edgbaston on Saturday and are also still in with a shout of qualifying for the semi-finals of the Yorkshire Bank 40, while they are also vying for promotion to Division One of the LV County Championship.

Having been part of the 1992 NatWest Trophy winning side, Ripley said Saturday's win was a special feeling and also that achieving their main target of promotion is their main goal for the rest of the campaign.

"It's fantastic. We talked a bit about the 21-year wait before finals day on Friday night and I got a bit self indulgent.

"It's pretty special when you've waited that long and, hopefully, we won't have to wait that long for our next special day – this is a great feeling."

"Our goal at the start of the season was to achieve promotion and win more one-day games, we didn't talk about qualifying for – or winning – T20 finals day.

"But of course we want to do well in all of the competitions and, having won the amount of games we've won, that's one ticked off for us now. If we win back at Edgbaston next Monday we may well get into the semi-finals of the Yorkshire Bank 40, but promotion would be massive.

"We want to test ourselves in the top division, there are some fine teams up there and, day in, day out as pro cricketers, that's the place to be playing."

With homegrown players like David Willey now likely to be in demand, Ripley also said he wants to keep his winning side together and hopes the T20 win is just the start of a period of success for the county.

"It's very rewarding to see players like David (Willey) and Alex Wakely – who have come through our academy – enjoying this success," he said.

"We've got a nice balance of young lads that know the club well and care for it and some very experienced professionals, that make for a good dressing room.

"I'd like to think it's the start of something and certainly we want to keep this group together."

"Hopefully winning cricket matches and being part of a winning team is special for all of them."

"The guys really care about what we're trying to do.

"That's very important for all of them to know, that you've got someone in looking after their own game and the mentality is that they want to win and qualify for the quarter-finals, then finals day and then they want to win it. It's been fantastic."
The history boys

All-rounder David Willey’s stunning hat-trick put the crowning glory on proceedings as they crushed Surrey by 102 runs in the final – having already seen off Essex Eagles earlier in the day. Turn inside for reaction to the Steelbacks’ historic triumph.
